"We'll remember always graduation day."
And graduation day Saturday, May 30, 1976, will be especially memorable to six of the participants in the Granite City High School North commencement exercises.

The six neighbors have been classmates and friends throughout their 13 years of public school—kindergarten and the first six grades at Namecki School, the seventh through ninth grades at Coolidge Junior High School and the tenth through twelfth grades at GCIS North. Pontoon board urging sewers

TENTH OF A SERIES
Amid claims by sewer foes that they expect to obtain enough petition signatures to block sanitary sewer construction in Areas Two and Three, the Pontoon Beach Village Board gave unanimous backing Friday night to the Area One sewer program.

A resolution approved by Pontoon Beach municipal officials at their board meeting Friday related that "we, the undersigned representatives of the Village of Pontoon Beach—being well aware of the problems of septic systems and lagoons—wish to offer our support of the Four Township Sewer Program."

Introduced by Loren Madison, the resolution was adopted unanimously and signed by all board members: Floyd David Moss, president, and Loren Madison, Donald C. Ilea, Raymond Gaudette Jr., Paul Bennett, Duane Skinner and Keith Biggs.

Area One sewers are to include the Pontoon Beach incorporated area as well as unincorporated portions of Namecki, Chouteau and Venice Townships, circling from the Stallings area north and west to the regional sewage treatment plant at the Granite City Army Installation.

Area Two, State Park Place, is to be linked to the Collinsville sewer system and Area Three, East Madison, Cloverleaf Addition and Eagle Park Acres, is to be connected to the Granite City system. In both Two and Three, opponents say they expect to obtain "anti" signatures from 51 per cent of the residents and 51 per cent of the property owners.

The Madison County Board's special sewer committee has urged that residents not sign the petitions, since anti-sewer signatures could block sewers and reject 75 per cent state-federal funding.

Plant pledges lift station cooperation

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer
Officials of Archer Daniels Midland Company's soybean processing plant Friday said statements made against the company during a Granite City Council meeting were unwarranted and asserted "ADM is willing to do whatever is necessary to solve any problems connected with the plant."

During the last City Council meeting May 24, a resident of Lockhaven Drive objected to a faulty lift station in his back yard. It is from a sewer which carries waste from the ADM plant as well as from about a dozen homes near the station. He said the lift pump occasionally clogs and waste is forced out, flooding his rear yard.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer noted the lift station was installed by ADM and later was deeded, with the sewer line, to the city. Since it handles primarily sewage from the ADM plant, Brewer contended ADM should be responsible for repairing it or replacing it. The city has been attempting to get the company to do so, he added.

ADM officials told the Press-Record they have never been requested by the city to replace the lift station. They have worked on numerous occasions with Superintendent of Streets Lionel Portelli on attempting to resolve problems with the lift station and have even requested prices on replacing the station, they said.

"We are doing everything we can to resolve this problem and are even shutting down the whole soybean processing plant every time that lift station goes out."

Form separate steel company

(44th of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series)
The history of Granite City Steel as a separate entity began in 1927 when arrangements were made to segregate the steelmaking activities from the manufacturing division of the National Enameling and Stamping Company.

A new corporation, named the Granite City Steel Company, was incorporated under the laws of Delaware on Nov. 1, 1927.

All of the steelmaking properties and assets of the National Enameling and Stamping Company were transferred to the new corporation in exchange for all the authorized common and preferred stock.

The capitalization of the new corporation was $5,545,000, represented by 155,918 shares of no-par common stock with a stated capital of $10 per share, 40,000 shares of $100-par preferred stock, and a surplus (as of Dec. 31, 1927) of $2,000,000.

All of the property transferred to the new company was located in Granite City.

It included an Open-Hearth Department with ten small open-hearth furnaces, offering a capacity of 350,000 tons of ingots per year; a 106-inch plate mill; 36 sheet and tin mills; a 72-inch jobbing mill; and galvanizing and tinning departments.

Circus near; Shrine parade here Thursday

Crowns, high wire acts, wild animals, and many other feature performers are heading toward Belleville and Granite City as the annual Southern Illinois Shrine circus, sponsored by Ains Temple of East St. Louis, draws near.

First activity will be the Quad-City parade Thursday evening.

The circus will open on Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Belle-Claire Fairgrounds on Route 13, Belleville, with the evening show starting at 7:30 and continuing nightly. Sunday afternoon will see performances at 1 and 4 p.m., followed by the evening show. Next Monday night will be the last show at Belleville.

The Saturday afternoon audience will include special guests of the Shrine—blind people of the region. They will see the circus through the voice of Ains Temple's Bob Hardy, who will explain each act over a broadcast system; each blind person will have a phone furnished by Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

Along with the blind guests, hundreds of youngsters and older individuals from all walks of life will be guests through "circus dads" tickets, purchased by Shrine members. More than 6,000 such tickets will be utilized in Belleville and Granite City.

Granite City will play host to the Shrine circus at the Tri-City Speedway, 5100 Nameoki Road, Highway 203, according to Ralph Green, chairman of the circus and chief rabban of Ains Temple.

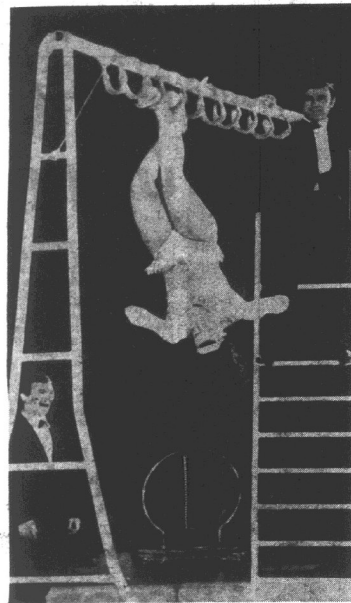

The show will be here three evenings starting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 9, Thursday, June 10 and Friday, June 11. Some of the acts listed are: The Great Hubert-Movieland stunt star with his walk and slide for life; the Zavattas, acrobatic maneuvers on a balancing ladder; Randy & Sylvia, coordinators on a high perch; the Flying La Rays; Mikova, queen of the high wire; Cristian's four elephants; Zeppe's Arabian riders; and The Sway Masters, interchanging poles in mid-air.

"These are all tops in the circus world and Proctor L. M. Fleckles of Chicago always brings in the best," according to Co-Chairman Jack Dempsey of Granite City, Ains assistant rabban.

"With the cost kept at $2.50 per adult ticket, or two for $5 on one adult ticket, there is not any place where you can duplicate the nearly three hours of entertainment for the price," Ticket Chairman Tom Barbach, Ains rabban, said.

The parades will be forerunners of the Shrine circus and Granite City will be the scene of the first when the 7:30 stepoff time on Thursday night, June 3, arrives. Tom Hundley, along with Kelly Hogan, have labored to put this annual Granite City event into the category of the "best ever," and the two chairmen have arranged for a colorful and entertaining show.

The following night in Belleville, Friday, more than 122 units will start at 20th and West Main Streets at 8 o'clock, led by general parade chairman, Norman Ackerman. Besides the local units and Shrine groups, including units of Moolah Temple, there will be float judging in two categories. One will be for the best float representing a Bicentennial theme, and the other will be for the best circus float. With 22 competitors, Ains Marshal Gene Morris predicts the

THE ZAVATTAS, a troupe of five to be featured at the 1976 Ains Shrine circus. An unsupported ladder supports Joe Zavatta as he balances a girl while she stands on his head. He also utilizes such a ladder to support four as they twist and turn and Denise Zavatta does a neck swivel.

Belleville parade will be outstanding. Uniformed units of the Temple will do many chores at the circus, such as making and selling popcorn and cotton candy, and selling soda. They also will park cars and help with other details. More than 1,000 nobles of the member units will work during the eight days.

Ains Temple is one of 180 Shrine temples on the North American continent. Ains sent 219 youngsters to the St. Louis Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children last year, and the annual average over a five-year period is 206. They rank at the top for child procurement, based on population and Shrine membership. There are 8,400 nobles in Ains, which has been chartered since 1913.

State spending up $511 million

State general funds spending is up by $511 million in the first 10 months of fiscal 1976 over the same period a year ago, Comptroller George W. Lindberg said last week in his monthly fiscal report.

"The state's spending growth rate of 12.3 per cent this fiscal year over last is ahead of the inflation rate of about seven per cent," Lindberg said, "which puts state spending well ahead of the increase that would have resulted from inflation alone."

Major spending increases so far this year have occurred in public aid grants (up $178 million), elementary and secondary education (up $85 million), other state grants (up $186 million) and operating costs of state government (up $77 million), the comptroller said.

Lindberg said revenues to the general funds were $447,000,000, or $219 million less than the $4,666,000,000 in spending during the period July through April.

"As April ended, the state completed the eighth straight month in which our cash reserves were below $100 million. This situation caused systematic delays in paying the state's bills, principally to those providing Medicaid services."

"Presently, the state's available cash balance has begun its predicted climb as we get the advantage of the traditional bulge in receipts as the fiscal year draws to a close. But, by October, the state's cash reserves will dwindle to the point we again will be unable to pay our bills in timely fashion."

"It is against that bleak

George W. Niedringhaus became chairman of the board of directors of the new corporation, and Alfred J. Kieckhefer had succeeded Niedringhaus as president of NESCO.

On Nov. 8, 1927, George's son — Hayward Niedringhaus — was elected vice-president and general manager of the steel company.

Less than three years later, on June 13, 1930, he was elected president and general manager. George W. Niedringhaus died in early 1928. A plaque in the City Hall of Granite City salutes him as:

Pioneer and great leader
An employer of many
Whose personality won the hearts of his fellow men
Whose vision and energy built a city.

On May 11, 1928, the stockholders of the National Enameling and Stamping Co. were offered the 155,918 shares of common stock of this new wholly owned subsidiary at $20 per share on a share-for-share basis.

At the same time, holders of the preferred stock of the National Enameling and Stamping Company, which was retired on June 11, 1928, were offered for each two shares either (a) $200 in cash, or (b) $100 in cash and one share of the preferred stock of the Granite City Steel Co.

By 1929, the divestment of the steel company by NESCO was entirely completed.

In order to retire $2,000,000 of its own preferred stock, the outstanding Granite City Steel Co. increased its authorized shares of common stock to 200,000 shares on Oct. 5, 1929.

On Oct. 18, 1929, the Granite City Steel Co. offered the stockholders of its common stock the right to purchase 7,959 additional shares at $25 per share on the basis of one share for each two held.

On Jan. 25, 1929, the authorized common stock was further increased to 300,000 shares, and the stockholders were offered an additional 88,470 shares at $35 per share on the basis of one share for each four held.

On March 1, 1929, the 40,000 shares of seven cent preferred stock were retired at the call price of $105 plus accrued dividends of $1.17 per share.

Therefore, at the end of 1929, net worth was represented by 292,347 shares of no-par common stock at $6,896,463, cash to the credit of $1,407,856 and earned surplus of $1,314,065 — a total of $9,618,384.

The Granite City Steel Co. repurchased 37,355 shares of its stock during the period of 1929-1933, of which 37,055 shares were retired, and the 300 shares purchased in 1933 were held in the company treasury.

The first two years of the company's independent operations were promising. Total assets were increased by $600,000 during 1929 and 1930. Ingot production in 1928 totaled 309,000 net tons. This increased to 349,000 net tons in 1929.

During the same period, net sales grew from $14,619,000 to $20,410,000. Net income, which in 1927 was estimated at $542,000, almost doubled to $1,075,000 in 1928 and continued increasing to $1,685,000 in 1929.

Cash dividends were declared in both years, and earnings on common stock increased from $3.48 to $5.68.

As the company prospered, the price range of the capital stock on the New York Stock Exchange increased from a high of 41 in 1928 to 63 1/2 in 1929, and a low of 27 in 1928 to 32 in 1929.

LOST DEPUTY'S CAR
An unmarked Madison County Sheriff's Department car, assigned to Detective Edward Newcome, was entered while parked in the 1900 block of Market Street, Madison, it was discovered at 8:35 a.m. Saturday. Stolen without a camera, a tape recorder and a night stick. The items had been hidden under the front seat of the car.

Plant

"We don't want to flood people's yards. As soon as we prices on a new lift station come out, we are supposed to have a meeting with Portell on this. But our hands are tied until the quotations come back," the officials said.

One ADM official noted, "Every time we shut that plant down for an eight-hour period, we lose about $15,000." Seventy-six employees have to be paid for doing nothing and the farmers line up waiting for their soybeans to be processed, the official added.

"This is just as aggravating to us as it is to the city or to the residents there. We are as anxious to get that lift station working properly as the city or those residents," the Press-Record was told.

"They said they will work with the city on the price of a new lift pump and 'we will work it out. We think we can come to a good compromise and we want to do what's right.'"

"ADM has a good reputation across the country and we are not going to risk this reputation on something like this," they added.

"Anytime there is a problem with that lift station, we are there on the spot right away and we shut down the plant. We have shown we are trying to help."

In December, when our plastic sewer broke, we replaced the whole thing—more than a mile of sewer—because it had been decided to the city. That should show we are trying to do what is right," the officials commented.

They also related that thousands of dollars have been spent in the last few weeks to clean up the plant property, get rid of rodents and noxious weeds and demolish and remove old buildings and stored equipment.

"We spent $4,000 alone to have the entire 40 acres sprayed with chemicals to kill weeds and rodents. We hire two firms for pest control to keep the buildings and the grounds free of rodents."

"We take every precaution to avoid soybean, grain or meal spills, because these cost us money and attract rodents."

"Grain is brought in only on farmers' trucks and the processed soybean meal leaves a sealed hopper cars. If any of those cars leak, we want to know about it right away, because a great deal of money can be lost from a leaking hopper car."

"A few months ago, the grounds were in pretty messy shape because all of our efforts were aimed toward getting a new plant operating properly."

"We now crush 60,000 bushels of soybeans each day here and still have some time left over to get our property in shape."

"We have probably spent $30,000 in the last couple of months on our property and now have it in good shape. There are four men who do nothing each day except clean the property and we now have bulldozers to use in leveling land and improving it."

"Archer Daniels Midland Co. is a good company and we are doing everything we can to be good neighbors."

"We can assure you we will deal fairly with Granite City and its people on this lift station problem and any problems which might develop in the future," the spokesmen concluded.

'Super-sprint' auto races here Wednesday

Wood River's Larry Kirkpatrick tomorrow will attempt to continue in 1976 his 1975 domination of Tri-City Speedway special super-sprint car racing. With time trials scheduled to start at 7 p.m., Kirkpatrick will be among many of the nation's top-rated drivers who will roll their sleek, open-cockpit racers onto the clay dirt Wednesday in an attempt to earn a starting spot in the 35-car field that will comprise the lineup for the feature race.

Expected to provide the Wood River driver with fierce competition is Danville's Bubby Jones, who captured four straight main events before Kirkpatrick snapped his winning streak here in the fall of 1974.

Kirkpatrick won the only sprint car racing program held here last year. Included in the field are Chuck Amati of Freeman Spur, Ill., who last week took top honors at Springfield and Benton over such drivers as Ricky Hood, Rick Ferkel, Cliff Cochrum and Sammy Swindell.

All have indicated they may compete at Tri-City.

One of the Midwest's veteran sprint car competitors, Bill Utz of Sedalia, Mo., will be missing from this year's field of drivers.

Pointon Beach's Wib Spaulding, who several years ago dominated weekly sprint racing programs here, may compete if he is offered a car to drive.

Joining the sprints Wednesday will be the speedway's sportsman class stock car drivers, who also compete every Saturday night.

Miss Wright is employed at the First Granite City Savings and Loan.

Helping guide them toward such careers were: Principals Donald Kopp (Nameoki), James Dumont and Mike Sikora (Coolidge) and Gilbert Walsley (North).

Parents of the new graduates are Mr. and Mrs. Steve Nakovitch, Mr. and Mrs. Olen Hearn, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carbaugh and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schubert.

"It seems like only yesterday when we saw them go through the big doors at Nameoki School for the first day of kindergarten," Mrs. Carbaugh recalls.

"Some were crying and some were scared—I mean the mothers."

"We can remember baking cupcakes for birthday parties at school, and being room mothers for Halloween and Christmas parties."

"We also remember the parades going up and down the sidewalks as they drove their fire trucks, bicycles and wagons. Now, they drive big cars and trucks."

At Coolidge, they seemed so small to be going there. During a summer vacation from Junior high, they built a tree house two stories high. The tree survived many storms as well as many nails.

"The big step was, of course, when they entered North High School."

"This brought football games, band concerts, Follies, Peppermint Players, Girls' Athletic Association, tennis, hockey, the yearbook and stock car races. Everyone seemed to grow up so fast."

"And then came high school graduation Saturday night. Some were crying and some were scared—I mean, again, the mothers."

City halts brush and limb pickups

The Granite City Street Department has halted its pickups of limbs and brush left at curbs.

Lionel Portell, superintendent of streets, said this morning.

"We are going to make one more round to pick up trees and limbs now at the curbs, but no new limbs will be accepted. We are going out of the brush pickup business as of now," Portell stated.

Effort to save sewer

Although several experiments have failed to completely repair a sanitary sewer separation in the 3200 block of Fehling Road at Bradley Avenue, the Granite City Street Department is continuing to attempt to repair the sewer without dewatering the ground around it and excavating to the pipe.

Attempts were being made during the weekend to force a 10-inch liner pipe through the separated area and heavy jacks were to be brought into play today to attempt to force the smaller pipe through the separated 15-inch line.

Street Superintendent Lionel Portell explained the sewer line is below the water table, but is grouted inside the pipe with the broken area will be repaired by grouting the area with concrete.

"One thing we found is that stabilizing a broken sewer by forcing grout under and around by grouting inside the pipe with the city's new televising and repair equipment which allows sewers to be studied and, in some instances, grouted, without having to excavate the breaks.

Portell said he does not know if forcing the smaller pipe through the broken area will repair the problem or push the two halves farther apart, but commented the fight to save the Fehling Road sewer was being waged.

Equipment to pump the sewage around the separated area has been set up and is being used during repair efforts, but the sewage has been allowed to flow through the damaged area most nights, avoiding noisy and expensive bypass pumping.

it, giving it a solid base, is going to be very important in stopping further damage to an already damaged line. I think we will be able to use this in many future instances and possibly save some sewers we might not be able to save any other way," Portell noted.

Cooperation can curb crime—Howlett

The security industry needs public support and cooperation to effectively fight crime, Michael J. Howlett, Illinois secretary of state, told the tenth annual International Security Conference last week.

Attending the symposium were security experts from around the world.

"The first line of defense against crime is the citizen," said Howlett. "There are many ways he can help the security industry."

"Businessmen, whether they operate a large factory or a small retail store, need security systems."

"Storeowners must cooperate with police by reporting crime and pressing charges. Indifference hampers security of forts. It gives a light-fingered customer or a dishonest employee another chance to steal. "Homeowners can improve security by remembering to lock doors and by exercising caution when admitting visitors."

"Property loss can be reduced if police and private security guards cooperate to fight crime."

"By exchanging intelligence and working together, they can make each other's job easier and make homes and businesses more secure."

"Government should take a more active interest in private security. Legislation should upgrade the qualifications of private security guards. "Today's criminal is a professional. The man who patrols a store, factory or apartment building must be a professional, too."

"He must be as good at his job as the criminal is at his. He must be able to handle a criminal until a police officer arrives at the scene. He must merit the respect of the people he serves."

"In my own office, we have raised professional standards for secretary of state investigators. These changes have produced dramatic improvements in our operations. "Government should also consider enacting building security codes. By prescribing minimum security standards for commercial buildings, local government could make a criminal's task more difficult."

"A code to make buildings less accessible could be developed by architects, municipal planners, fire prevention experts, police, insurance representatives and security systems authorities," Howlett said. "Security is everyone's problem. Everyone must contribute to its solution. Then we can truly enjoy the liberties we are guaranteed by our Constitution."

The group will also perform such pieces as Haase's Dossology Amen, Praise Ye the Lord, Peter's Quintet No. 1 in D Major, and Hewitt's Yankee Doodle with Variations. The program will close with the Hopkinson's Washington's March, and A Toast to Washington, the Boston Patriotic song, Adams and Liberty and a favorite federal song, Hail, Columbia.

INTRODUCING A COIN PHONE YOU CAN USE WHEN YOU DON'T HAVE ANY COINS.

Have you ever tried to make a call from a coin phone and not had the right change? Or deposited your money only to find the phone wasn't working?

You won't have these problems with Dial Tone First service now being added to many coin phones in Granite City.

Because Dial Tone First means just what it says.

When you pick up the receiver, you get a dial tone first—before you deposit your dimes. And that means two things:

1. When you hear the dial tone, you know the phone is working. Then you can deposit your money and make your call.

2. If you don't have change, you can dial the Operator, who will place a local call for you. The Operator will dial the number and make the call "collect." Or you can arrange to charge the call to your home phone or credit card. (The rate for the call will be higher, however, because the call was placed for you.)

The Operator will also dial emergency calls to the police or fire department for you—without charge. And you can call Directory Assistance without charge.

With Dial Tone First you still place your Long Distance calls as usual. But now, you won't need change to reach the Operator.

Look for the Dial Tone First coin phones now being added to Granite City locations that have "451," "452," "876" and "877" phone numbers.

You can identify them by the blue and white instruction card.

With Dial Tone First, coins will never stand between you and an important phone call again.

All classes will begin Wednesday, June 9, and conclude Saturday, June 26.

Kim Yount, a graduating senior at Edwardsville High School, will be instructor. She started tap and ballet lessons at age five with her mother and has worked at dancing seriously since the sixth grade. She was an assistant to Linda Weston in California for two years and also has aided her mother in teaching tap and ballet lessons. "If we discover enough interest, the tap and ballet lessons will be continued in the fall at the YMCA," Rudolph said.

Uniform burglar alarm network planned in GC

Granite City Chief of Police Ronald Veizer has been requested by the Granite City Council to prepare specifications for a burglar alarm control center which would monitor burglar alarms at numerous businesses and residences.

In conjunction with planned remodeling of the police station, Veizer studied several burglar alarm systems, one of which was demonstrated for the council by its manufacturer.

Veizer said that, after studying various models for seven months, he believes a system similar to the one shown could offer better service than the numerous different types of alarms now being used throughout the city.

He said he has met with representatives of both the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Retailers and Civic Association of Granite City who agreed a unified burglar alarm system could be beneficial and indicated many retailers would be likely to participate in the alarm program.

Paul Schuler requested that all aldermen make their final suggestions soon so that the document can be passed at the council's next meeting June 7.

Alderman Roy Foulke of the Third Ward objected to the appearance of a fence along the south side of East 23rd Street. He said it has been struck by autos in several places.

Brewer informed him a fencing firm would have to be hired to repair the fence, due to the special tools required. No action was taken on the issue.

Assistant Fire Chief Charles Hileman reported that vandals had damaged his duty car and he submitted several estimates of the repair cost. The council approved having the auto repaired at Able's Auto Body for $116, the lowest estimate submitted.

Expenses of $160 each were approved for two firemen to attend the state fire college in Champaign June 10-13.

The council approved purchasing of basic building code books for city building inspectors and for any aldermen who request a copy.

An excavation permit was granted to Illinois Power Co. to repair a natural gas main in the 3100 block of Edgewood Avenue, with the work to be done during July.

Another excavation permit was granted, to Illinois Bell Telephone Co., to replace an underground facility along 20th Street between Grand Avenue and State Street during the period of June 21-25.

A request from Oliver Motor Service, Inc., to clean up property at 3007 Edwardsville Road, place a trailer there as an office, and use the lot for truck parking was referred by the council to the City Plan Commission for study and a recommendation.

A letter was read informing the council that the city and street department are defendants in a civil lawsuit filed on behalf of a resident. He allegedly was injured in a fall on the sidewalk in the 1500 block of Kirkpatrick Homes. The case was referred to City Attorney George Fluff.

EARTH TONES, a range of beige, orange and brown, are being painted on the Koinonia Center of the First Assembly of God Church in the 2300 block of Madison Avenue. The pattern was designed by a deacon

Pepsi will abandon 12-ounce bottle

A piece of Americana disappeared this month for local residents. It was announced by the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Alton, which serves this area.

After 46 years of continuous use, it will no longer market Pepsi-Cola in the refundable 12-ounce bottle, company officials disclosed.

"That ends, locally, a colorful era in the history of soft drinks," a spokesman said, adding, "The Pepsi 12-ounce bottle was an innovation that revolutionized the whole soft drink industry. You can still find the bottle in some parts of the country, including St. Louis, but it is fast approaching national extinction."

"This 12-ounce bottle began its marketing career in the form of a green, beer type bottle with paper labels."

It went through, much to the delight of bottle collectors, many design changes before reaching its present form. However, its real story lies not in its design changes but in the marketing role it played.

"Although Pepsi-Cola dates from 1888, it did not become a national brand until the 1920s. At that time, Coca-Cola, which used only a six-ounce bottle, had a virtual stranglehold on soft drink sales."

"Pepsi-Cola realized that in order to effectively compete it must offer, in addition to quality, something else to capture public attention."

"As a result, the strategy of offering twice as much as Coca-Cola, 12-ounce versus six at the same price was born."

"The nation soon became aware of this new value when two young men on a piano on the old Tin Pan Alley composed a jingle that became the first singing radio commercial."

"Pepsi-Cola hits the spot. Twelve full ounces—that's a lot. Twice as much, just a nickel, too. Pepsi-Cola is the drink for you."

"The words obviously now show their age. The nickel soft drink disappeared a long, long time ago and the 12-ounce bottle is almost extinct."

"The success of the 12-ounce bottle eventually led to its own doom. It started an emphasis on value that, by necessity, required even larger sizes—particularly for those used in the home."

"Today, locally, soft drinks are available in 16, 32 and 64-ounce bottles for home use," the spokesman concluded.

Role for parents in teaching deaf child

Training parents of children with impaired hearing to be good teachers will be the theme of a colloquium Thursday at 12:30 p.m. in the Mississippi Room of the University Center at SIUE.

Audrey Simmons-Martin, a professor of education at Washington University and director of early education for the Central Institute for the Deaf in St. Louis, will present the colloquium, entitled "Parent Intervention in Early Education of the Language-Delayed Child."

She believes that any child born with impaired hearing will be language-delayed because of his inability to hear. But this does not mean that the child is academically handicapped, she said — only that special techniques will be needed to teach him.

"I am interested in training parents as the major delivery agents of education to the young child," she said.

Professor Simmons-Martin added that she will discuss how parents of children under five years of age can help their children develop despite their handicap.

About 150 children with impaired hearing are enrolled in the Central Institute for the Deaf. She said that teaching techniques she will discuss are those that are used at the institute to train children who are being prepared to go into regular schools.

David Kohfeld, professor of psychology at SIUE, who helps organize the colloquiums, said Prof. Simmons-Martin's most recent work has been in the education of parents to teach their language-delayed children. Thursday's colloquium, sponsored by Psi Chi national honor society and the SIUE Psychology Department, is expected to be of special interest to parents of children with impaired hearing and to educators.

The colloquium is free and open to the public.

'Dial tone first' coin phone conversion here

Illinois Bell is starting to convert local coin phones—in the area served by the telephone number prefixes of 451, 452, 876 and 877—to Dial Tone First.

In announcing the conversion, Kenneth Evers, Illinois Bell manager here, said that many of the coin phones in the Quad City area already have this special feature. The conversion starting this month will give the majority of local coin phone users the most modern coin phone service available, he added.

Evers said Dial Tone First offers several advantages to the user.

"You hear the dial tone before you deposit your money, so you know the phone is working. And if you don't have any change, you can call the operator, who will place local calls for you."

"The operator can make this type of call collect, or charge it to your home or business phone number, or to your credit card. Charges are somewhat higher for this type of call because of operator involvement," Evers explained.

"And most important, in cases of emergency, the user can call the operator to report a fire or call the police without worrying about having the proper change," Evers emphasized that such calls are free.

Consensus on need for steel expansion

A "new consensus" is emerging among opinion leaders that substantial steel industry positions on public policies vital to its future, American Iron and Steel Institute President Frederick C. Langenberg said Thursday in New York.

Langenberg told the 84th general meeting of the Institute that at the heart of this new consensus is recognition that the industry must expand its production substantially if the United States is to have the steel it needs.

Along with that goes consensus of the staggering capital requirements faced by the industry, he said.

"There has been growing awareness that our capital requirements cannot be met without higher earnings. To achieve these earnings, market forces must be allowed to operate."

He said the industry, which is privately owned, also is receiving increasing support for its contention that—although it is generally cost competitive with other steel industries—it can't be expected to compete in markets against marginally-priced imports from subsidized steel industries of other countries.

That point was made by specially steel producers in their successful escape clause action, he said, and it also is evident from the fact that President Gerald Ford has directed U.S. representatives in the GATT trade negotiations in Geneva to negotiate sectoral basis solutions to the problem of cyclical distortions in steel trade.

Perhaps the focal point in the development of the new consensus, according to Langenberg, was a public symposium on steel held in December by the Council on Wage and Price Stability. A broad spectrum of economic ideologies was represented by the participants, some of whom had a history of hostility toward the industry, he said.

At the outset, it seemed unlikely there would be a meeting of the minds, and yet a consensus started to develop that substantiated the industry's positions on long-term demand for steel, capital requirements, environment and technology, the AISI president related.

He urged steelmen to read the final report on the symposium, issued April 27. It reinforces many public positions of the steel industry, he noted.

Another example of the new consensus cited by Langenberg was a study funded by the Environmental Protection Agency which contained capital requirement figures close to those of the steel industry.

In addition, the U.S. Department of Commerce issued a report in March concluding that environmental controls will force the steel industry to use 10 per cent more energy.

As for technology, the National Academy of Sciences in a report to Congress states that, "regarding the sale of technology in recent years, the U.S. steel industry has been more active than anyone." It concludes, however, that the industry needs capital to keep moving ahead, Langenberg said.

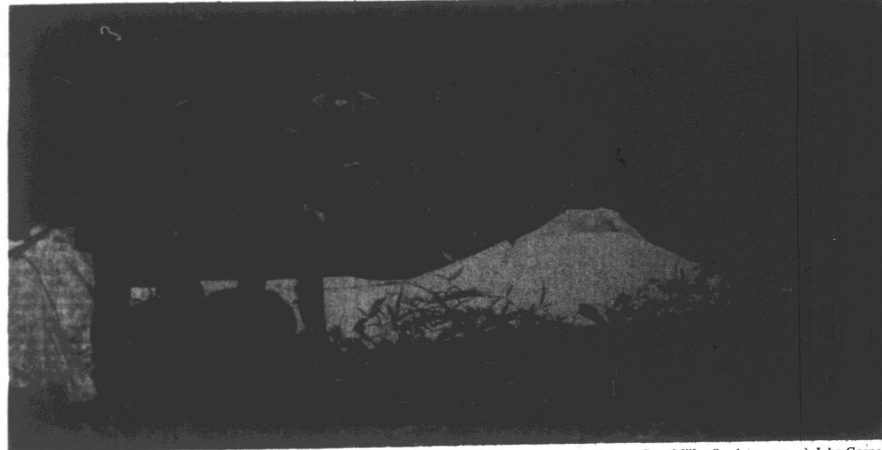

He emphasized there is far from universal acceptance of steel industry positions, but there is "mounting evidence that we have made considerable progress in refuting some dangerous fallacies about the industry."

The most serious problems facing the steel industry are generated by government, and only government can develop their final solutions, Langenberg said.

He called for national economic policies that encourage capital formation, environmental policies that incorporate realistic priorities and workable timetables, and trade policies that recognize market distortions created by unfair foreign trade practices.

Lottery forgery charges

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott last week announced indictments of two persons on charges of forgery in connection with the Illinois state lottery.

Abraham Bulgina, Chicago, was indicted by a Cook County grand jury on one count of forgery for allegedly altering an Instant Lottery ticket that would have made him a $10,000 winner. The alleged alteration was discovered after Bulgina turned in the ticket at a lottery claim center in Chicago. No money was paid out.

Indicted on two counts of forgery was James Dugan, Chicago. He allegedly altered two lottery tickets with winnings of $20 each, successfully cashing in the tickets at two Chicago grocery stores: White Hen Pantry and Arlene and Don's Gourmet. Under Illinois law, the stores are liable for the loss.

Don Davis, associate professor of art and design at SIUE, said the auction, sponsored by the Art Service Association at SIUE, will provide "a good opportunity for both amateur and professional collectors to acquire good works for their collections at reasonable prices."

Auction to aid art department

An auction of faculty and student artworks at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be held Thursday in the Meridian Ballroom at 7 p.m. All services and art for the sale are being donated, including the services of auctioneer Ed Ahrens of Staunton.

Don Davis, associate professor of art and design at SIUE, said the auction, sponsored by the Art Service Association at SIUE, will provide "a good opportunity for both amateur and professional collectors to acquire good works for their collections at reasonable prices."

SIUE art faculty and students are donating prints, paintings, sculpture, drawings, ceramics, fibers and mixed media to be included in the sale. All proceeds from the sale will go to the art department, mainly to provide money for a Ford Foundation matching grant program. The foundation will match funds up to $50,000 for the department.

Other programs to be aided from sale proceeds are student scholarships, visiting artist programs and faculty and student enrichment programs.

Admission to the auction is free. Artworks may be viewed from about 5:30 to 7 p.m., when the sale will start.

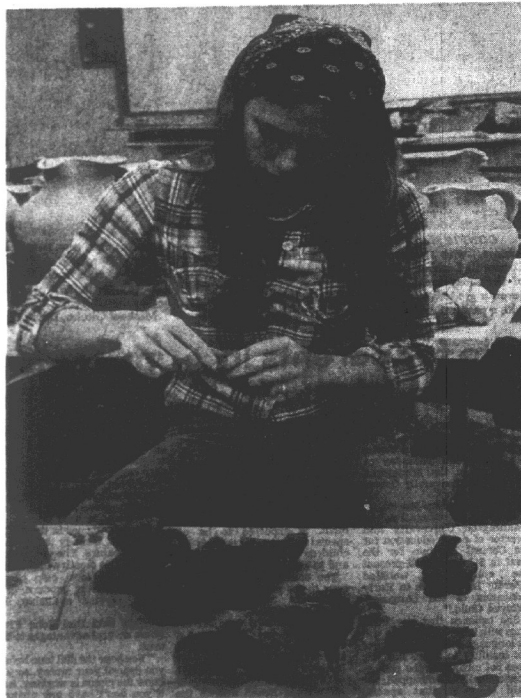

LIMIT ON AUXILIARY

AND POSSE AUTHORITY
Attorney General William J. Scott has issued a legal opinion that sheriffs do not have the power to establish, on their own initiatives, auxiliary police departments.

The opinion supports the position taken by previous Illinois attorneys general. In 1913, 1927 and 1958, that a sheriff's power to summon a "posse comitatus" does not authorize establishing auxiliary police forces. Scott's opinion also notes that a sheriff's power to summon the posse relates only to temporary emergencies.

PICKUP TRUCK TAKEN

The 1974 light Chevrolet-Chevy pickup truck of Nita Vlach, Decatur, was stolen from the 1800 block of 20th Street. It was reported Thursday.

ART TO BE AUCTIONED. Sally King of Granite City, a junior majoring in art at SIUE, works on a ceramic to be sold during an Art Service Society auction Thursday in Meridian Ballroom. The auction will begin at 7 p.m. and works by the art faculty and students will be included. Auctioneer Ed Ahrens of Staunton will direct the bidding. Proceeds will be used to provide matching funds for a Ford Foundation grant awarded to the art department.

Sewage conditions are a real problem; best available program can be implemented by not signing petitions

Guest comment by Walter "Dick" Sparks, Chouteau Township supervisor and chairman of the Madison County Board's special committee that is planning for installation of sanitary sewers in three areas.

In answer to the Kinder Lane resident's May 27 Forum letter, "Residents—Sewers yes, taxation no." I appreciate the fact that she must believe that she is right in her allegations concerning the Madison County sewer program. However, I am sure that she has only discussed this with people who do not have the correct information to offer.

I do not believe that she has ever discussed this program with any of the people who have been involved with trying to get sewers in this area for several years, particularly the committee or the finance people who must raise the funds.

I checked the assessment on her property. At a rate of $1.06 per $100 assessed valuation over a 15-year period, the cost would average about $64.50 per year.

I know the very bad conditions that exist in that particular area. If they are keeping their sewage from coming out on top of the ground, they must be paying more than that amount for getting their septic tank pumped.

Here are a few questions I would like for all property owners to consider before signing petitions or condemning the sewer program—consider that we believe it to be the best that is available.

Do you want to get rid of the pollution caused by not having sewers—and make your home a healthier and more environmentally compatible place to live and raise a family?

Does your neighbor's septic system cause you any discomfort? Would you like to see the employment situation in our area improved—and new jobs created for our young people who are coming into the labor market?

Would you like to see our area grow to the point where we could have the public services we need at a fair cost?

There are only a few of the factors that I can think of that should be considered before we take a chance of losing our state grant of 75 percent of the construction cost of this project.

We have been told by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency that we have until October to get contracts let, in order to qualify for the grant. This also means that we are to have our $5 million share available.

I feel sure that we have done our very best. If anyone else can put together a better program, I will be glad to help. But in the meantime, I ask that property owners—before signing petitions to block the sewer program—consider that we believe it to be the best that is available.

Sham bill fails to correct costly compensation burden

Commentary by Thomas L. Reid, director of public affairs, Illinois Manufacturers' Association—The Illinois Senate Labor and Commerce Committee has mocked state employers by approving, on a straight party-line vote of 7-4, a bill which does nothing to correct the onerous Illinois worker compensation law.

The 51 state employer and taxpayer groups seeking a remedy believe the committee bill is a cosmetic sham, designed to give the appearance of coming to grips with the serious problems of worker compensation costs for employers. It will provide no significant relief whatsoever.

The senators are feeling heat from employers on the devastating increases in compensation costs that the 1975 amendments have caused. With their bill, they are throwing employers a bone, and a dry one at that.

The committee bill attempts the common trick as a compensable occupational disease. But benefits still are available if any other ordinary disease of life is aggravated by workplace conditions and becomes disabling. This includes arthritis, heart trouble, emphysema and many other possibilities.

Another example is the top limit the committee placed on compensation for death. The present minimum of 50 percent of the person's compensation with no limit would have a maximum benefit of three times the average state weekly wage in manufacturing. Since the average weekly rate now is $205 and going up to $231, the maximum annual benefit would be $36,000. This will certainly not provide much cost relief to manufacturers or other employers, including municipalities.

The actions of some committee members during a hearing on bills to amend the worker compensation law—and the committee's abrupt adoption of its own ineffective bill—demonstrate the distaste that the Illinois General Assembly now has in employer problems and the business climate of the state.

Welcome ruling on drug price data

To the Editor—Walgreen's firmly supports the consumer's right to full and accurate information on prescription drug prices, and therefore welcomes the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States to remove various state prohibitions on the advertising of prescription drug prices. It is a step in the right direction.

The ruling, however, will have only minor effect on Walgreen Co. because the firm has already provided its pharmacy customers with virtually total price information.

To all the 13 states in which we operate pharmacies, the Walgreen Consumer Guide of 34,000 prescription prices has been available since 1974. It is available direct to customer, 365 days a year.

The open book alphabetically lists over 1,500 different pharmaceuticals in up to eight strengths and quantities, for a total of over 10,000 prices, thereby providing information just the exact prescription the customer needs.

Rather than a limited advertisement list of 30 or 50 or 100 prescription drugs which do not prove relevant to the reader, this book gives comprehensive information so consumers can make informed decisions.

Company Chairman Charles S. Walgreen III has said, "The Supreme Court decision does provide us with this benefit: We have widely and consistently advertised our prescription prices both in-store and in several states where we provide our customers with our consumer guide of prescription prices, we have not been able to publicize that fact.

"That restriction is apparently now lifted, and we will be able to make more consumers aware of this information service."

Walgreen's has informed customers of prescription prices by phone for over seven years, and through the consumer price guide, since 1974. We fear that advertising of limited prescription price lists could prove more promotional than educational. We would hope, for the benefit of the consumer, that the nation's pharmacies, rather than publicizing fragmented lists, would follow our lead in providing consumers with more substantial prescription price information.

Arrest in Venice

Clyde "Banks" Wallace, 20, of 134 Greiner Homes, Madison, was arrested at Lee Park in Venice at 10:05 p.m. Sunday and was charged with resisting arrest, driving while intoxicated, careless driving and not having a driver's license.

Officers allege his car earlier had struck the parked car of Walter E. Goff, 2331 Waterman Ave., in an alley behind 1250 Klein St., Venice. There were reports of a brown auto running other cars from the roadway, leading to police following a car and arresting Wallace.

Police allege Wallace resisted attempts to place him in a jail cell and force had to be used.

local residents, the committee says, to try to build the sewers without such grants.

Unless bond and construction bids have been received and awarded by Oct. 1, the program is jeopardized, the committee adds.

The county committee headed by Chouteau Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks agreed during the weekend to attend a meeting this Thursday with Mrs. Ruth Andrews and a representative of the John Nuveen and Co. bond firm of Chicago.

A precinct committeeman who favors revenue bonds rather than general obligation bonds for retiring sewer costs, Mrs. Andrews invited the bond representative to come here.

It was asserted at sewer hearings in May that revenue bonds would be costlier to Quad-City and also would be unlikely to attract bidders. Such bonds involve flat payments or use as payment while GO bonds are retired through property taxes.

Mrs. Andrews said she thinks the Nuveen agent may be able to suggest an alternative. Committee members voiced doubt, but expressed willingness to meet. However, the committee is known to favor competition in bond bidding, rather than a negotiated sale.

Also, to assure maximum competition among contractors, the committee has scheduled the bond auction in segments that could be handled by small as well as large firms.

A sheet issued during the weekend by Nameek Township officials relates that in Area One, the state is to pay $10,000 and our share is $5 million.

"Some method of raising our share must be found by the end of October of this year."

"There are three ways of raising our share: 1. To pay cash (approximately $1,666 per home); 2. To sell revenue bonds (paid by a tap-on fee and monthly charges); 3. To sell general obligation bonds (paid by taxes)."

"The county has hired the firm of Waterleik and Brown, Inc., specialists in municipal bonds, who advise that revenue bonds are virtually unobtainable at today's market, due to the recent New York Bond crisis, and that a cash payment plan would require 100 percent of the 305 home owners to pay $1,666, plus the cost of their own sewer from their homes to the collector sewer, no later than October 1976."

"The county projects that the revenue bond issue, and the cash issue are impossible. So, a special tax district has been established."

3 hurt on State

Three persons were injured in a three-car accident at 20th and State streets at 9 p.m. Thursday.

Jack Cook, Perryville, Ark., was charged with following too closely after his car allegedly collided with the rear of the car of Tony Kash, 30, of 912 State St., Madison, pushing Kash's auto into the rear of the car of John C. Camp, 77, of 918 Jackson St., Madison.

Camp suffered injuries to the chest and neck and was released after x-rays and treatment at St. Elizabeth Hospital. His son, Carl Camp, 40, of 2121 S. Main, was charged with neck pain and also was released after x-rays were taken.

Kash was x-rayed for neck and chest pains and was released.

SUMMER SAFETY TIPS FROM GASEN!

- Now's the time to check your medicine cabinet to be sure you have such simple first-aid supplies as adhesive tape, bandages, cotton, sterile gauze, and a thermometer on hand.
- Carry a first-aid kit with you, in your car or boat, when traveling or on vacation.
- Avoid over exposure to the sun and apply oil, lotions and creams according to your skin's sensitivity.
- Keep prescription medicines and vitamins in a cool dark place as sun and temperature extremes may destroy their effectiveness.
- When going away, be sure you have sufficient prescription medicines with you to last the length of your trip.
- Shop and compare Gasen for low prices on prescriptions. You'll see you save!
